

Four reviewed works, four reasons, one verdict — and no premise in common

The cards are deliberately not joined to one another: merging them would draw a consensus that does not exist.